2011 Educators' Symposium

TSCPA will host this NO COST event in early February for high school educators all across the state. It is designed to introduce educators to the variety of materials available to them through the TSCPA, including curriculum and resources that can be used to inform students about business and accounting education by enhancing current educational materials.

Teachers will also be invited to bring their top two accounting students with them. The students will participate in joint sessions with the teachers, as well as sessions designed just for them.
